

REMARKS

We discovered when preparing the appeal brief that claim 16 had a typographical error. More specifically, in the last line instead of reciting "a digital deactivation key" as was clearly the intent, it recited "a digital activation key."

The arguments that we have made during prosecution make clear that it was intended to recite a digital deactivation key. Moreover, the context also makes clear that was the intent.

We therefore ask that the amendment proposed herein be accepted.
